PRESS RELEASE

September 2008

Ref:105

CHELTON LYNX WESTLANDS TO THE FUTURE

The Future Lynx programme includes the refurbishment of some 70 in-service aircraft (30 Navy and 40 Army helicopters). Chelton already supplies the majority of the communication and navigation antennas. This includes the electronically scanning Direction Finder and also the design and manufacture, by Chelton and Cobham Composites, of the tail vertical stabilisers with integral conformal communications antennas. Chelton will now also supply a control radiation pattern antenna (CRPA) and a digital antenna control unit (DACU) to enable continued GPS reception in hostile jamming environments. There is a growing market for this anti-jam technology around the World.

The value of the Future Lynx contract to Chelton now exceeds £8 million.
